Career Objective

I'm a Computer Science student specializing in Medical Informatics with a strong interest in web development. I enjoy creating interactive, functional, and visually appealing websites using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and React. I focus on learning by building real-world projects like pharmacy systems, order pages, and portfolios while improving my problem-solving, UI/UX, and coding skills. Curious and adaptable, I'm expanding into backend topics and aiming to build a solid portfolio that bridges healthcare and technology.
